New Mexico has the third highest death rate for drug overdose in the U.S.

A 2007 study of 147 nursing-home residents estimated that 9% to 14% met the criteria for normal pressure hydrocephalus.

The hands, feet and wrists are commonly affected, but it can also cause problems in other parts of the body.

We don’t want to be inward-looking, or only interested in people who reinforce our own views – take a look at radfem blogs to see how that turns out.

my means I am almost 63 and my children are now 32 and almost 31 so there is NOTHING wrong with them
